Winter Wonderland? Trouble With '73 Press Delegation

You'd never convince the youngsters that what we've been living through the last couple of days isn't a Winter Wonderland, but those of us who grew up in the North have a long list of objections. I'll cite just two, not to mention the bitter cold and frost-bitten fingers and toes:

The "cutter" or one-horse sleigh—romantic subject of snow country fables. The fable has it that you get right cozy in a cutter, with a buffalo robe wrapped around boy and girl as the horse trots briskly across the snow-clad landscape. That's the fable. Now for the truth:

A cutter is low slung, well below the horse's tail and almost in line with his flying hooves. His Winter shoes are diamond-shaped—meaning pointed iron studs projecting below the shoes to give him a firm purchase on ice. The result is that while he trots merrily on, your face is bombarded by a stinging hurricane of chopped ice. And a cutter, with its two fixed runners, can't be turned around in anything less than a 20-acre field—I know, I tried it once in less than 20 acres and the cutter overturned. The only good thing I can say about a cutter is that it's easy to set it upright again.

There's another and better snow vehicle—the farm bobsled, drawn by a team. The farm wagon's wheels are removed and individual runners are attached. The front runners maneuver just as wheels would, and of course the outfit handles turns beautifully. The trouble with a bobsled, however, is, you have to round up a good-sized crowd to enjoy it.

Winter Wonderland? Please go away. Like all Northern-born, there are days when I feel that when I went South I didn't go far enough.

Have you gotten used to writing "1973"? Getting out the first discount checks of the new year Sunday I carefully inspected the year's dating on each then, having sealed up three in return envelopes furnished with the invoices, I had my doubts, ripped open the three, and found my enterprise was fruitless—all three were dated correctly.

Then, and then only, was I assured we were off on a new year.

You read in Saturday's Star that the Winter convention of the Arkansas Press Association at Hot Springs this Friday and Saturday, Jan. 2-13, marks the 100th birthday of our organization. Personnel from most of the state's weekly and daily newspapers will attend, along with news paper suppliers and their product exhibits.

The convention will be held at the Arlington Hotel, but The Star's delegation has reservations at the Majestic, an old favorite. The following will attend:

Circulation Manager C. M. (Doc) Rogers, Jr., and Mrs. Rogers, with their boys joining them Saturday.

Mechanical Superintendent D. F. (Gene) Allen.

And your editor.

CARLOS'S LOST

The appearance of the "Short Title" strip in the spot on the comics page usually occupied by "Captain Easy" does not mean The Star has dropped the latter feature. This week's copy for "Captain Easy" was checked into the shop last Wednesday, but when Monday's edition came up the copy couldn't be found. A replacement shipment of "Captain Easy" has been ordered from NEA, Inc., Cleveland, and weather and mails permitting, should reach Hope Wednesday or Thursday.

Traffic halted on Interstate 30

Icy roads and reports of numerous accidents in the area resulted in the closing of Interstate 30 from Texarkana to Arkadelphia Sunday and Monday. Looking west from the State Highway 4 overpass, several hundred vehicles were stopped, and traffic was backed up for more than a mile.

Nixon authorizes attacks

VN bombing order is s-t-r-e-t-c-h-e-d

SAIGON (AP) — President Nixon has authorized U.S. fighter escorts to attack North Vietnamese MIGs or surface-to-air missile sites above the 20th parallel if they threaten American B52s below the northern limit Nixon has placed on the bombing of North Vietnam, reliable sources reported today.

The U.S. Command announced today that an Air Force F4 Phantom shot down a MIG21 along the 20th parallel Sunday when it threatened a flight of B52s.

The Command said that the MIG was downed "northwest of Thanh Hoa," which is only 10 miles below the 20th parallel, and spokesman refused to say just how far northwest of the city. This was interpreted as a tacit acknowledgment that the dogfight extended above the parallel.

U.S. sources outside the Command indicated today that Hanoi Radio was not lying when it reported last week that U.S. fighters escorting reconnaissance planes attacked anti-aircraft defenses in Hoa Binh Province south of Hanoi. The U.S. Command denied at the time that American planes had bombed pre-selected targets above the 20th parallel, but it refused to comment on reconnaissance operations and what action fighter escorts might have taken.

Thirty-nine B52s dropped about 1,100 tons of bombs in the North Vietnamese panhandle during the 24 hours ending at 8 a.m. today, U.S. sources said.

During the same period, the Command said, U.S. fighter-bombers made 128 strikes in the panhandle, destroying supply trucks and setting fuel depots afire.

Hanoi claimed that two B52s were downed Monday and today below the 20th parallel, and an said unmanned reconnaissance plane was shot down north of Hanoi on Monday, but the U.S. Command said it had no plane losses to report.

In South Vietnam, nearly 50 B52s dropped more than 1,200 tons of explosives on troop concentrations in a staging area that North Vietnamese forces used for attacks in the tri-border region of the central highlands, where the frontiers of South Vietnam, Laos and Cambodia meet.

It was the second day of heavy raids in the region between Highway 14 and the border, 10 to 20 miles northwest of Kontum. This indicated a new North Vietnamese buildup, perhaps in preparation for an attack on Kontum.

Premier Pham Van Dong of North Vietnam ordered new austerity measures and heightened military alerts for his country as Hanoi again accused President Nixon of threatening to resume the bombing of Hanoi and Haiphong.

The U.S. Command again refused to comment on Hanoi Radio statements that American planes were flying reconnaissance over Hanoi and Haiphong in preparation for resumption of the bombing there should the current round of Paris peace talks fail.

U.S. sources outside the Command acknowledged that reconnaissance operations with unmanned "drones" and other classified equipment are continuing over Hanoi and Haiphong to maintain a list of targets ready for bombers to attack within an hour's notice from Nixon. These sources also admitted contingency plans exist for a resumption of the bombing in the northern heartland.

Peace talks are termed 'unfriendly'

PARIS (AP) — Henry A. Kissinger and Le Duc Tho met for another negotiating session today as Hanoi warned that "there has not been any sign showing that the negotiations will reach any results."

President Nixon's national security adviser was host to the North Vietnamese Politburo member at a house in St. Nom la Breteche, 10 miles west of Paris. Tho had been the host Monday when the negotiations resumed after a three-week suspension.

The unfriendly atmosphere which surrounded Monday's meeting continued today. None of the North Vietnamese were outside to greet Kissinger on his arrival Monday, so none of the Americans were visible when Tho and his staff arrived Policeman Frederick O'Sullivan, wounded Monday morning in a stairwell near the roof, said he saw the man, or at least the muzzle blasts from his weapon.

If the sniper killed Sunday night by police gunfire was not alone, how did any other sniper get away?

"There's a gamut of possibilities, ranging from police negligence to a superb sniper," Giarrusso said. He would not elaborate.

Meanwhile, activity around the hotel was almost normal, with traffic-filled streets and people on the sidewalks beside the building. Except for the charred upper-floor windows, blackened from fires that police say the sniper — or snipers — set, it was normal.

Sniper still at large in New Orleans

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Police, seeking clues for a possible second gunman in a sniper incident that left six persons dead, kept a downtown hotel closed today and checked records and leads in other places.

Numerous questions remained unanswered, and Police Supt. Clarence Giarrusso said he would meet with newsmen to discuss some of them, particularly those he refused to talk about Monday night after police searched the hotel and failed to find a second gunman they had thought was on the roof.

Among reports checked out, police said, was one at midday Tuesday that there had been a new shooting in another building. The reports proved erroneous, a spokesman said.

A major unsolved question involved what evidence police might have that there was more than a single sniper at the hotel.

Giarrusso acknowledged Monday night there could have been just one, but he also said there could have been two or three that police let get away — or that escaped because they were supersmart. He would not talk about other evidence at the time.

Among potential evidence being checked, apparently, were comments by police sharpshooters who said they had seen more than one sniper.

James Luck of Hope, chief of the Hempstead County Rescue Unit checks the injuries of a "victim" at a simulated disaster at the Texarkana Airport Saturday. Two passenger planes "crashed" into each other creating 346 injured and dead; area emergency agencies, with the cooperation of high school groups and

Boy Scout units, including three Hope Scout troops, participated in the disaster practice. The youngster above, from Hooks, Tex., created his own injury—a simulated amputated leg. (See article below and other photos on next page.)

Texarkana's disaster also tests the preparedness of Hope's unit

A simulated disaster involving the crashing of two passenger planes at the Texarkana Airport left 346 persons "injured and dead." Area emergency agencies, including the Hempstead County Rescue Unit, handled the simulated emergency.

A hanger at the airport was crowded with the "victims" some with minor injuries, some with major injuries such as compound fractures (see photo above), broken backs and broken necks and others who were tagged "Dead."

The victims were all Boy Scouts who shivered through the 32-degree weather as they acted out their parts. Three Boy Scout troops from Hope — Troops 91, 162, and 92 — participated in the emergency. Accompanying the boys were J. W. Rowe, Roger Nunn, Tom Berry, James Davis, Richard VanHorn, and Harold Sisson.

Representing the Hempstead County Rescue Unit were

James Luck, unit chief, and D. E. (Gene) Allen.

"Patients" were carried to St. Michael's and Wadley's Hospitals in Texarkana; 151 patients were treated, and eight "died," two were transferred to out-of-town hospitals, and 85 were admitted for further treatment.

Rescue units, fire departments, the National Guard, and ambulance services and doctors from throughout the area participated in the exercise designed to test Texarkana's preparedness if a real disaster should occur.

Thirty-seven emergency agencies took part in the "disaster."

The Hempstead County Rescue Unit will discuss this exercise at their next meeting which will be Thursday, Jan. 18 at 7:30 p.m. in the Branch Hospital Educational Building.

Tastee-Freez, Kentucky Fried Chicken to locate on State Highway 29 North of the nation's largest food chains will occupy a 2,500 square foot building to be constructed on a site owned by North Town, Inc., according to Arthur Strech, firm president.

Construction will begin in the near future on two new businesses on state highway 29 north.

North Town, Inc. is the developers of Hope North Shopping Center on Highway 29 north.

The restaurant with facilities for 40 inside diners plus their normal carry out facilities, operates more than 3,000 restaurants.

Present plans call for a full family-type operation serving breakfast, lunch and dinners. Holland Enterprises Inc., is the franchise owners for Kentucky Fried Chicken in the Hope area.

The other food establishment to be constructed is Tastee-Freez, according to Strech.

Tastee-Freez is one of the world's largest retailers of ice cream and sandwiches, operating more than 3,500 restaurants throughout the world. Tastee-Freez in Hope will provide a new in-the-car carry out service for food and ice cream plus having complete inside dining for 45.

T.E. Adair, Inc., who operates more than 100 Tastee-Freez Restaurants in eastern Oklahoma, Arkansas and East Texas will own the Hope Franchise.

Weather permitting, construction on the Hope North Shopping Center will begin when stabilization is completed on the soil.

The center will contain 84,000 square feet with parking accomodations for more than 350 vehicles. Hope North Shopping Center is scheduled for an Aug. 1, 1973 opening. The Center will contain 17 stores including a super market, variety store and department store, Strech said.

A Major Oil Company Service Station and an office building are scheduled for construction.

Construction has been delayed for several months to the delays in completion of the sewer system serving Highway 29 north area by bad weather.

Watergate 7 trial may touch Nixon administration

By DON McLEOD

Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The trial of the seven men charged in connection with the break-in and alleged bugging of Democratic national headquarters will reach into the Nixon administration, but not to the top levels.

Seven current or former White House staffers or members of President Nixon's re-election effort were named Monday as anticipated witnesses as the trial opened in U.S. District Court.

Asst. U.S. Atty. Earl J. Silbert, heading the prosecution team, read a list of 60 witnesses the government expects to call, including four Nixon campaign officials, two White House staffers and a former White House secretary.

The defendants include a former White House consultant, a former official of the Committee for the Re-election of the President and another man who worked in both places.

An eight-count indictment charges them variously with burglary, conspiracy, interception of oral and wire communications and unlawful possession of intercepting devices.

Five of the men were captured at gunpoint early last June 17 inside the Democratic offices in the Watergate office-apartment complex overlooking the Potomac River.

The two others were added in the federal indictment which said the seven conspired from May 1 to the day of the break-in to illegally gain information from the headquarters. Democrats have charged that political espionage was behind the break-in but the White House steadfastly has denied any connection.

Among the prosecution witnesses slated to be called are Jeb Magruder, a top lieutenant in the White House communications office who organized and initially headed the Nixon campaign committee.

Others include Hugh W. Sloan Jr., former treasurer of the Finance Committee to Re-elect the President; Robert C. Odle Jr., personnel chief for the campaign committee; and Herbert R. Porter, who ran the surrogate-speaker program for the Nixon campaign.

Also scheduled to testify are Fred Fielding, a White House lawyer; Bruce Kehrli, a White House secretary; and Kathleen Chenow, a former secretary at the White House.

The trial, expected to last from one to three months, opened with the ponderous chore of selecting a jury.

Accusation is aimed at Kelly Bryant

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Arkansas Gazette reported today that a survey of purchases made under state Printing Contract 27 during the first eight months of 1972 indicates that Secretary of State Kelly Bryant awarded the contract to the second highest bidder.

At the current rate, the Gazette said, Bryant's decision will have cost the state $26,000 by the time the contract expires at the end of this year.

Contract 27 is for the state's supply of continuous forms for computers.

Over the two years, it will mean about $450,000 in sales to Democrat Printing and Lithographing of Little Rock, the newspaper reported.

When told of the findings, the Gazette said Bryant expressed no surprise and offered no comment beyond a "yeah."

Moore Business Forms, an international firm with a sales force in Little Rock, was the apparent low bidder but did not get the contract.

Joint session for inauguration

By JIM MCCALL

Associated Press Writer

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The 69th Arkansas General Assembly met in joint session today for the inauguration of Gov. Dale Bumpers to a second term.

The House and Senate convened individually at 9:30 a.m. and went into a joint session 30 minutes later.

Bumpers won a second two-year term with a landslide victory over Republican Len E. Blaylock of Nimrod in the November general election.

The governor's formal inaugural speech was scheduled for 6:30 p.m. today in the rotunda of the state Capitol.

The legislature convened at noon Monday and one of its leaders predicted it would be the state's most historic session.

Despite icy roads, only one member, veteran Sen. Robert Harvey of Swifton, was missing when the roll was called in the 100-member House and the 35-member Senate.

Three blacks in the House and one in the Senate marked the first black membership in the legislature since 1893.

Rep. G.W. "Buddy" Turner of Pine Bluff, chosen speaker of the House, said in a speech to his colleagues that the session would rank at the top in history—making legislation.

Alluding to the record state revenue surplus accumulating in the state treasury, Turner said, "Our cup is running over," but he cautioned lawmakers that the spending of state funds—some estimates say the surplus will total $100 million—should "reflect the people of the state of Arkansas."

Turner said there was a public crisis about the way to state and national government spends tax money. The public wants to make sure it gets its money's worth, he said, urging House members to carefully scrutinize each proposed expenditure.

Besides the presence of blacks and the opportunity to deal with a state revenue surplus, Turner said the session would be historic because the legislative committee systems have been modified, affording members more knowledge about legislation than has been available to them in the past.

The first day was devoted to organizational matters. Each chamber was called to order at noon, the House by Chief Clerk Jim Childers, the Senate by its president, Lt. Gov. Bob Riley.

Secretary of State Kelly Bruant certified the election of the members in each chamber and Chief Justice Carleton Harris of the state Supreme Court administered the oath of office to the legislators and Riley.

Rep. G. W. "Buddy" Turner of Pine Bluff was installed as speaker of the House and Sen. Clarence E. Bell of Parkin was named president pro tempore of the Senate.

A total of 13 resolutions and 51 bills were introduced in the House and three resolutions and 20 bills were introduced in the Senate. The Senate recessed at 1 p.m. and the House recessed about 2:15 p.m.

Following the recess most senators boarded a bus and traveled to the Pulaski County Courthouse for a hearing on a suit filed by the state Republican party that asks for an order requiring members of the Senate to redraw for terms.

The state Constitution requires senators to draw by lot after each decennial reapportionment of the Senate to establish staggered terms.

Circuit Court Judge Tom F. Digby took the suit under advisement.

M-Missing, T-Trace

Farm prices take 6.8 percent hike

WASHINGTON (AP) — Wholesale farm prices posted the biggest monthly increase in 26 years last month with a climb of 6.8 per cent, the government reported today.

The report, by the Labor Department's Bureau of Labor Statistics, blamed weather damage to crops as the main reason for the big increase.

The sharp climb in food prices boosted the government's over-all wholesale price index 1.8 per cent in December, the largest in 22 years. The increase was slightly less, 1.6 per cent, on a seasonally adjusted basis.

Prices of a broad range of industrial raw materials rose three-tenths of 1 per cent while wholesale consumer finished goods ready for market at retail had climbed 1.2 per cent, the report said.

The big increase in prices of farm products, largely uncontrolled by federal price regulations, included boosts of 21.1 per cent for grains, 16.9 per cent for eggs, 13.6 per cent for hay and oil seeds, 9.4 per cent for livestock, 7.8 per cent for plant and animal fibers, eight-tenths of 1 per cent for poultry and one-tenth of 1 per cent for milk.

The only declines was 5.1 per cent for fruits and vegetables.

Grains were 44.1 per cent higher than a year ago, livestock was 22.4 per cent above last year and eggs were up 25.8 per cent over the year.

The rise in prices of farm products was the largest since March 1947 and the over-all rise in all wholesale prices was the biggest since January 1951, the bureau said.

The report said wholesale prices have risen at an annual rate of 6.6 per cent during the 14 months of President Nixon's Phase II wage-price controls compared to a 5.2 per cent rate in the eight months before any controls were imposed in August 1971. The rate of increase in the past six months accelerated to 8.1 per cent, it said.

While most retail prices are controlled, wholesale food price increases at the farm level can be passed on to retailers and the consumer.

The report said processed foods and feeds increased 5.1 per cent last month. This included increases of 25.4 per cent for animal feeds, 6.6 per cent for meat, poultry and fish, 4 per cent for vegetable oils, 1.5 per cent for cereal and bakery products, and 1 per cent for dairy products.

Prices of farm products overall were 18.7 per cent above a year earlier and prices of processed foods were up an average of 11.6 per cent, the report said.

In blaming weather for the food price increase, the report said: "Freezing temperatures and snowfalls were much earlier than usual in some areas, holding up the harvesting of crops such as grains and oil seeds, and the marketing of livestock."

"The subsequent melting of snow, together with heavy rain in some areas, further impeded the harvesting of crops and marketing of livestock."

Another reason for the rise in grain prices were continued exports and increasing requirements within the United States.

As the world's most widely read columnist, how are you going to defend yourself against Germaine Greer, the most outspoken proponent of Women's Lib?

ABBY FAN IN BOSTON

DEAR FAN: Germaine Greer can go to her mikveh and I'll go to mine. [P. S. Mikveh means bath.]

DEAR ABBY: I am mystified over your remarks on bathing. Thanks for enlightening me. I had always heard that all men were created equal. I never realized that women were born "dirtier" than men. I knew that a woman is paid less for doing the same job as a man, but until now I didn't know it was because she is offensive.

I'm amazed at you, Abby. You must have water on the brain from spending so much time in the bathtub. S. K. H.

DEAR S. K. H.: Men and women are NOT created equal—anatomically speaking. Unlike the male reproductive organ, the female's is an orifice which constantly produces a secretion which is normally somewhat odoriferous. She is not necessarily "unclean," but a woman who wants to be forever fragrant will not spare the soap and water.

DEAR ABBY: In conjunction with your recent letter concerning bathing: Will you please stress the fact that MEN need underarm deodorants as well as women?

My husband and I are square dancers, and I sure wish I could tell some of these men that it isn't their swinging that makes me dizzy, it's just the fact that I am holding my breath—and a gal can hold her breath just so long before she loses consciousness.

Please print this, Abby. There are a lot of square dancers, and it could be a lot more fun.

A SQUARE IN MICHIGAN

DEAR SQUARE: Consider it done. It's not easy to star thru while you're holding your nose.

DEAR ABBY: I am one man who wants to thank you for taking the stand you did regarding women bathing. Several years ago I had a secretary who splashed on cologne several times a day. (She probably couldn't stand her own odor.) Between the cologne and her body odor, she turned me against one of the world's loveliest fragrances.

I knew she didn't bathe much because her elbows were always dirty, and her filthy feet showed thru her hosiery! She was the talk of the office and altho her work was excellent I had to let her go. I frankly told her why, which didn't seem to bother her.

I have let men go for the same reason. Some men may shower daily but they never use deodorant to take care of the perspiration acquired during the stress and strain of the daily routine, which is unfair to their coworkers. Forgive my typing. I typed this myself while my secretary was out for lunch.

BY BERNICE BEDE OSOL

For Wednesday, Jan. 10, 1973

YOUR BIRTHDAY TODAY
Your more expansive outlook will reflect favorably in your areas of interest this coming year. Judgment, executive aptitudes are enhanced.

ARIES (Mar 21-Apr 19)
If your companion is a little touchy today, try the philosophic approach. Your positive outlook is needed.

TAURUS (Apr 20-May 20)
Early in the day others could run out and leave you with extra work. The evening is more fun.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20)
A misunderstanding with a friend should not go unsettled. Let another serve as arbiter.

CANCER (June 21-July 22)
It could be a bit difficult to get others to cooperate first part of the day. It works out later.

LEO (July 23-Aug 22)
Do your early errands alone. Later, take that special someone with you.

VIRGO (Aug 23-Sept 22)
Joint finances are sensitive zones till evening. Other activities at home look like more fun.

LIBRA (Sept 23-Oct 23)
Tact, diplomacy will be required to handle difficult associates. Imaginative maneuvering is key.

SCORPIO (Oct 24-Nov 22)
Spend the extra money to make something you're working on easier. You could be "penny-wise."

SAGITTARIUS (Nov 23-Dec 21)
You may be projecting some of your qualities to one you think has them, but doesn't. Realism avoids disappointment.

CAPRICORN (Dec 22-Jan 19)
If you try to be all things to all people today you'll wind up pleasing no one. Be yourself.

AQUARIUS (Jan 20-Feb 19)
When your ideas are temporarily blocked realize this, too, will pass. A friend helps.

PISCES (Feb 20-Mar 20)
You're capable of drawing to you everything you need in the material sense. Look to yourself.

Will Cicely Tyson Be The One?

Break Ahead for Black Women Stars

By DICK KLEINER

HOLLYWOOD — (NEA) — "Sounder" is one of those little pictures that has become big. And its costar, Cicely Tyson, is a slender actress who has become big, too, and probably will become much bigger.

There never has been a black woman movie star. There have been a handful of black men but never a woman. Cicely Tyson, on the strength of her acting skill and her unique beauty, could be the one to make the breakthrough. She's all for it.

"I'd be very happy to be the first black female star," she says. "Nothing would please me more."

On the strength of her great reviews and the probability of an Oscar nomination things have started to happen. She says there is "lots of activity," meetings with agents and producers, phone calls, a flurry of scripts.

"But there simply aren't that many good scripts around," she says. "Stories for black women haven't been selling. It won't be easy to find a part with the dimensions of Rebecca."

Rebecca is the name of the character she plays in "Sounder." Cicely Tyson recognized her at once as someone she had to portray. She is very particular about the parts she accepts. This is only her third film and the preceding one, "The Heart Is a Lonely Hunter," was four years ago.

It's been that kind of career. A career marked by many lean years, a reputation in the industry as a fine actress but not much work. She was the first black of either sex to be a regular on a television show — "East Side, West Side," with George C. Scott—but it didn't last long.

"It was an enlightening experience," she says. "For one thing it was the first time I'd ever worked with regularity. And, then, working with George Scott was wonderful. The George Scott I know isn't the one usually written about."

"He's such a generous per-

CICELY TYSON would be "very happy to be the first black female star."

son with his talent. He fought for me constantly. He wanted more for me. He said he didn't want me to be just a token. But it was a losing battle."

Perhaps Cicely Tyson works so sparingly because her career is so precious to her. And you can understand why when you realize that it almost cost her her family.

She comes from New York, from a religious family. As a child she wasn't allowed to go to the movies. Cicely grew up, went to secretarial school and had a good job. And then, one day, she said to herself, "I'm sure God didn't put me on earth to bang a typewriter."

She became a model and then auditioned for an acting job, "and instinctively I did the right thing." She got the job. She went home and told her mother she was going to be an actress.

"My mother asked me to move out of the apartment," she says. "She was positive I was going into a life of degradation."

Mother and daughter didn't speak for a year. Didn't see each other for two years. Peace finally was established. Still, the first time Cicely's mother ever saw her work was when she attended the premiere of

"Sounder."

"Her reaction?" Cicely says. "First, she was terribly excited because she was sitting right in front of Ed Sullivan. And, second, she said I reminded her of her mother."

"It's curious. Everybody identifies with Rebecca. She's everybody's mother."

She feels that "Sounder" is a film which transcends race, "a movie that belongs to the family of man."

At the moment the joy the film is bringing to everyone is enough to satisfy her. But she admits that the Oscar talk is nice, too.

"I can't find words to describe the feelings I have," she says. "I don't want to think about an Oscar—it's too overwhelming. I have to be realistic. There is a lot of competition. To protect myself I just smile and ignore it."

That smile may change to a wide grin before too long. (NEWSPAPER ENTERPRISE ASSN.)

DeAnn Garden Club has final meet

For its last meeting of the year the DeAnn Lilac Garden Club went to the home of Mrs. Enloe Burke on Dec. 19. The co-hostess, Mrs. Gladys Samuel, read the Christmas story in Luke 2 for the devotion and led in prayer.

Mrs. Maybelle Canarsky read two poems by Helen Steiner Rice, "The Priceless Gift of Christmas" and "The Gift of God's Love." Three special guests, Jan, Missy, and Rusty Burke, children of Mr. and Mrs. Ronnie Burke, sang a medley of Christmas carols.

Christmas ornaments made and brought by each member were judged, and Mrs. Cora Burke received first place and Mrs. Gladys Samuel, second.

Assorted tidbits were served with tea or coffee to 15 members and 5 guests, Mrs. Lileen Orr, Mrs. Betty Carver, and the three who sang.

Over-the-Hill Gang

George Allen

Don Shula

By MURRAY OLDERMAN

LOS ANGELES, Calif. — (NEA) — From a personality standpoint, the lineup for Super Bowl VII, to decide the champion of Pete Rozelle's world, is about the most exciting prospect since the first Apollo astronaut said, "Golly gee!"

It matches the No-Name Defense of the Miami Dolphins, the only big league enterprise south of the 28th parallel, against the Over-the-Hill Gang of the Washington Redskins, the only big league enterprise between Silver Spring, Md., and Alexandria, Va.

I remember the good old days when Joe Namath guaranteed victory, when Joe Kapp swore vengeance on the gringo, when Lenny Dawson pleaded innocent, when the late Vince Lombardi dominated the scene with his malevolent, gnashing smile.

What have you got now? Two spectacularly nameless teams — with the possible exception of Wild Willie Kilmer throwing tomahawks for the Skins — led by two grindingly efficient coaches.

There's George Allen with the squirt of a coal mine paymaster. And about the same amount of humor. There's Don Shula, who measures his words as carefully as an income tax accountant. With concurrent publicity value.

Actually, the story of Super Bowl VII is their opportunity for personal redemption.

Despite the fact that neither has ever had a losing season as a pro head coach — Shula in 10 years with Baltimore and Miami, Allen in seven years with Los Angeles and Washington — both have been ranked by Detroit before moving up.

Allen was saluted nationally with a risqué ditty by the Chicago Bears for his contribution to their 1963 NFL championship as the defensive coach.

Give Shula and Allen credit, too, for being able to produce high emotional levels in the teams they coach. The stress on winning piques all pros. It means first of all a lucrative payoff — $15,000 apiece to the winners of the Super Bowl. Plus identification. Over-the-Hill — No-Name — they aren't grabbers.

There is an extra element of suspense in the game coming up in the Los Angeles Coliseum on Jan. 14. The Dolphins could become the first team in more than half a century of recorded National Football League history to go through an entire season unbeaten and untied. Their 16 straight victories — 14 during the regular season and two so far in the playoffs — represent an epic achievement. The last team to get close was the Chicago Bears, who took an 11-0 record into the 1942 championship and were upset by the Washington Redskins.

(It should be noted that NFL historians don't include the annals of the defunct All-America Conference, which lasted four years right after World War II — the 1948 Cleveland Browns won 14 straight games and then defeated Buffalo for the AAC championship.)

My feeling is that the Redskins will again, 30 years later, abort a record attempt. They're a looser gang of veterans who haven't had the pressure of a winning streak. They should become the Top-of-the-Hill Gang by a 24-20 margin.

(NEWSPAPER ENTERPRISE ASSN.)

Minnesota. And switching over to the Washington Redskins in the Eastern Conference last year, George dropped the first round playoff to the San Francisco 49ers.

Both are aggressive, tight-lipped, win-channeled men who shut out the rest of the world during football season. Allen favors ice cream because, it's said, he doesn't have to take the trouble and time to chew it. Shula, who had a legendary temper as a player, keeps a tight grip on himself by devotion to detail and organization. He will, occasionally, smile.

Give them credit though. They each have stepped twice into losing situations and produced dramatic, instant success. Maybe because both long ago recognized the key to winning football lies in defense.

Shula, a tenacious defensive back in pro ball for seven years, got his start as a defensive coach with

Mighty Bruins in top spot

NCAA meet gets underway

CHICAGO (AP) — Court-protected Southwestern Louisiana was a burr under the National Collegiate Athletic Association's saddle as the group marshaled for its 67th annual convention starting Wednesday.

Tabbed one of the most important in NCAA history, the three-day conclave of delegates from more than 650 member schools was upstaged earlier this week by some Southwestern Louisiana legal dodging of an NCAA probe of the school's nationally ranked basketball team.

A federal court at Lafayette, La., last weekend issued a restraining order blocking until Jan. 15 any NCAA hearing on alleged basketball recruiting violations by Southwestern Louisiana.

"I always concentrate on the majors," said the man who started the 1972 season by winning the Masters and U.S. Open, "but I do not feel that I can say I'm going for the grand slam until I have won the first three and am coming up to the fourth."

Dolphins ready for Super Sunday

By HUBERT MIZELL

Associated Press Sports Writer
LOS ANGELES (AP) — Larry Csonka is fed up with people trying to create a feud between Mercury Morris and Jim Kiick, his running partners in the Miami Dolphins' backfield.

"They love each other, they pull for each other," says Csonka. "They just hate to ride the bench. To a real football player, the bench is hell. As far as I can determine, nobody enjoys hell."

That's one feud down, one to go.

Then there's the Bob Griese-Earl Morrall stickiness at quarterback. When the icy, confident Griese suffered a busted leg in the season's fifth game, the 38-year-old Morrall came to the Dolphins' rescue.

He led 11 victories in a row.

Now, with Griese healed, Bob is No. 1 again for Sunday's Super Bowl VII matchup against the Washington Redskins. Old Earl is one of those bench-hating types, too, but again the anger is professional instead of personal.

Don Shula is the man who decides who'll play and who'll be on the sidelines.

"It was difficult because Earl is such a first-class person on and off the field," Shula said Monday. "We wouldn't be standing here today, preparing for the Super Bowl, if it were not for Morrall. He picked us up in our darkest moment."

The darkest moment in a 16-0 season came when Griese was crumpled under a furious pass rush by San Diego Charger strongboys Deacon Jones and Ron East. Shula's heart was suddenly in his throat.

"Seeing Griese, the player of the year in the National Football League in 1971, laid out before you is a shocking thing," he said. "Then I turned to Earl for help. He responded, oh, how he responded."

Morrall quarterbacked for Shula when both were employed by the Baltimore Colts. It was Earl who was intercepted three times when Baltimore was upset by the New York Jets 16-7 in Super Bowl III.

"He's won a lot of games for me," Shula said as the Dolphins went through a press-photo day Monday at Blair Field in Long Beach. "Matter of fact, my long memory is what caused Morrall to be retained when we cut our roster to 40 regulars last summer."

The Dolphins will work behind closed gates as the small baseball park today. It's the site where Washington's George Allen drilled the Rams when he was their head coach.

Canadiens tie with North Stars

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

However, it was a profitable evening for both Canadian clubs. The Nordiques climbed within three points of third-place New York in the WHA's East Division while Montreal pulled three points in front of runner-up Boston in the NHL East.

The Canadiens took a 3-1 lead on a pair of goals by Yvan Cournoyer and one by Frank Mahovlich. But Dennis Hextall scored for Minnesota at 7:22 and Buster Harvey's powerplay goal 6½ minutes later tied the score.

Bergeron backhanded a 10-foot shot past New York goalie Pete Donnelly to give the Nordiques their victory.

The hockey teams from the Province of Quebec had this thing about blowing third-period leads Monday night but one of them managed to pull out a victory anyway.

No, it wasn't the Montreal Canadiens. They settled for a 3-3 tie with the Minnesota North Stars in the only National Hockey League action. The victorious sextet was the Quebec Nordiques, who eked out a 6-5 triumph over the New York Raiders in the only World Hockey Association game on Yves Bergeron's goal after 2½ minutes of sudden-death overtime.

Jack Nicklaus is the man who decides who'll play and who'll be on the sidelines.

"I support the American tour but I think we should also support tournaments in other countries," the blond bomber from West Palm Beach, Fla., said in an interview. "After all, the American tour was not built by Americans alone but no one can say that fellows such as Roberto DeVicenzo, Gary Player and Tony Jacklin haven't made tremendous contributions to our tour. We owe them something."

Nicklaus was presented a silver crown proclaiming him the "King of Golf." He spent the day playing with writers over the La Costa course, annual scene of the MONY Tournament of Champions.

Nicklaus said, as in the past, he planned to play only about half of the 44 tournament tour schedule with its purse of more than $8 million.

"I don't like to go home and hear my wife and family say, 'Who is that fellow?' I fix major goals, try to prepare myself properly but want to be fresh at the end of the year so that my family can tolerate me. We like football and other things."

Nicklaus said he had been invited to play in a $100,000 tournament in Sweden after the British Open last year and he understood that Japan was planning a half-million dollar tournament similar to the one which has been announced by the PGA for Pinehurst, N.C., in November.

Jack said that he was not aiming at the so-called grand slam collectively—that is, winning the U.S. and British Opens, the Masters and PGA in a single year—but plans to take them one at a time.

"I always concentrate on the majors," said the man who started the 1972 season by winning the Masters and U.S. Open, "but I do not feel that I can say I'm going for the grand slam until I have won the first three and am coming up to the fourth."

Jack Nicklaus: King of golf

By WILL GRIMSLEY

AP Special Correspondent
RANCHO LA COSTA, Calif. (AP) — Jack Nicklaus sees big-time tournament golf going global with the United States providing only a segment of a rich tour that will lap over to other continents.

"Personally, I would like to see golf played on a seasonal basis in this country with more competition in foreign lands," the game's top player told Pacific Coast golf writers Monday night after they had honored him as the No. 1 player of last year.

"I don't know what that season is but I am in favor of fewer and more select tournaments. That way, we would be able to provide a more representative field for most of the sponsors."

Nicklaus, who won more than $320,000 on the U.S. tour last year while playing in about half of its 40-odd tournaments, said he wouldn't be surprised to see the Mexican Open and rich tournaments in Japan and Great Britain added to the tournament program in future years.

"I support the American tour but I think we should also support tournaments in other countries," the blond bomber from West Palm Beach, Fla., said in an interview. "After all, the American tour was not built by Americans alone but no one can say that fellows such as Roberto DeVicenzo, Gary Player and Tony Jacklin haven't made tremendous contributions to our tour. Ice storm slows AIC action

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Action was sparse in the Arkansas Intercollegiate Conference Monday night, with four games being postponed because of the weather, and in the only loop game Arkansas College whipped Arkansas Tech 67-55.

The victory moved the Scots into a second-place tie with State College of Arkansas, both with 4-1 league records. The loss was the sixth straight for Tech, which fell into last place.

Ouachita, which was not scheduled to play Monday night, leads the AIC with a 5-0 mark.

The conference's leading scorer, Elliott Jackson, pumped in 21 points at Russellville to lead AC to its victory over Tech.

Nate Van Pelt added 14 and Bill Nipper 10 for the Scots, who led 33 to 28 at halftime.

Ron Edmonds led Tech with 20 points. Eugene Grant added 17 and Bobby Funnatter 10.

DR. LAWRENCE E. LAMB

The Doctor Knows Situation

Water Pills and Menopause

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

Dear Dr. Lamb—Would it be possible for you to tell me the effect water pills will have on one's general health. I retain water. My left leg and both ankles swell badly. I have lost 23 pounds, and my body also is retaining water. I take water pills and alternate them with a supplement of potassium. My family says it will make a mental case out of me and kill me. They think the doctor should know or find out why I retain water. My kidneys and heart are fine. Is there any other test I should have? I am 47 years old and going through the change. I also take medication for this. Perhaps I should not expect you to comment or help, but I hate the idea of changing doctors, and they are really putting pressure on me to do so.

Dear Reader—I suspect your doctor already knows why you retain fluid. It's fairly common during the change to have this problem, and the hormones sometimes given to help women through this period of life cause the body to retain salt (sodium) which in turn causes the body to retain water.

Your doctor also knows, apparently from your statement, that your kidneys and heart are fine, which would be two of the serious problems that might cause fluid retention. He undoubtedly also knows from his examinations of you that your liver is functioning normally which might also be a consideration.

It sounds to me like your doctor knows what he is doing and merely changing doctors wouldn't really help. Ask your doctor why you retain fluid and see if he tells you it is because of the change of life and the treatment. If you are worried about the rest of your health, you should ask him. He may well think that you already know this is a common problem with the change of life.

Here is an item that ought to be of interest to all of you people who have arthritis involving the hands. A specialist in arthritis, Dr. George E. Ehrlich of Philadelphia, and a collaborator, Dr. Alfred M. DiPiero, were intrigued by a patient's report that if she wore stretch gloves to bed at night it prevented the morning stiffness. They devised a test using two types of gloves, nylon knit gloves or Spandex and nylon gloves. Almost all of the patients using these had a significant decrease in morning stiffness. The doctors say they don't know why it works. It's apparently more than just a question of heat since wearing cotton gloves didn't do the same thing.

This last item interested me because many of the readers who have had leg cramps reported to me a year ago that they received

Personal question: what type of correspondent do you like best? I don't mean what type question, but the kind of person who writes it. —CURIOUS

DEAR CURIOUS:
Broadly speaking, I like best non-condemning people with lively senses of humor...those who can laugh at themselves while still feeling compassion for others.

Narrowing it down to personal reactions, I'm also very fond of the writer who begins, "I don't always agree with what you say, but thanks for making me think, and for occasionally changing my mind." Here is someone who really READS the column, and I appreciate that.

WIN AT BRIDGE
No-Trump, a 'Picture' Bid

the ace, king or queen. With any other distribution the hand may still wind up in no-trump but the winning player will start with a suit bid because such hands show too much promise in the right suit.

When we watched this hand played, South took about seven seconds to make four no-trump after opening with one no-trump.

No one noticed that six diamonds could have been made just as easily. We don't say that a diamond opener would have led to that contract. All we know is that if South had opened a diamond there would have been a chance of reaching the slam.

By Oswald & James Jacoby
The opening no-trump is a "picture" bid. It pictures your distribution and high card strength so closely that on most occasions partner knows if the combined hands are in the part score, game or slam range and can control the bidding accordingly.

The picture conveyed by the Jacoby no-trump is almost exactly the same picture Oswald Jacoby decided to show some 40 years ago. It is 16-18 high card points, 4-3-3-3, 4-4-3-2, or 5-3-3-2 distribution and the doubleton if there is one must include one of the four top honors.

Forty years ago we were more conservative. The doubleton had to include either

DEAR HELEN:
We live in a mobile home park. The new owners work every day and an elderly man has unofficially taken over in their absence. They think he's great, as he keeps them informed, but the tenants are going crazy.

He rides around in a silent electric cart, borrows magazines and newspapers from mailboxes, even reads everybody's electric and gas bills. Also, he slips up near windows and listens in to conversations, then spreads gossip around the park.

He started rumors about two couple's "mate swapping" which weren't true, but it broke up their friendship. He'll start a fight between people with his little "egging-on" remarks, then drive his cart away and watch with a smile from a distance while the battle rages.

The owners couldn't believe anyone so jolly could be underhanded, but several of us are catching on to the fact that he's dangerous. In fact, if you complain about him, you're on his list and then you really get shafted.

I notice people are avoiding me, so I imagine he's started talk about me. How can I make people see the truth about him when he has the kids on his side (and some of the parents, too) because he gives them rides on his cart and entertains them with stories? —READY TO MOVE

DEAR READY:
Children aren't easily fooled. Are you sure this man is as bad as you paint him, or is there some sort of personal friction here that makes you see a jolly, somewhat nosy old fellow as a dangerous busybody?

I couldn't judge without knowing the facts, so I'll suggest: Avoid him, stop trying to "prove" he's the park menace, and wait for him to prove it himself. If he's all you say—it shouldn't take long. —H.

DEAR HELEN:
Several successful career women and I were recently initiated into a local women's club. As we were introduced, I expected the chairman to tell a little about what we had accomplished in work and community service, but no—we were merely "Dora Smith, wife of Dr. John Smith," or "Jane Brown, wife of Professor Sam Brown who teaches at the university," etc.

When will women start recognizing other women as persons, not simply appendages to men? —MARRIED BUT SEPARATE

DEAR M. BUT S.:
...About the time we all start calling female "chairman" by another name. Touche, yet? —H.

This column is dedicated to family living so if you're having kid trouble or just plain trouble, let Helen help YOU.

4 blacks are sitting in General Assembly

ROBERT SHAW
Associated Press Writer
LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Dr. W.H. Townsend of Little Rock found sitting at the opening session of the Arkansas House Monday not much different from his attendance at biracial functions over the years.

Henry Wilkins III of Pine Bluff was "happy" to look around and find two other black faces in a chamber in which he had sat three years ago as the only black delegate to the state Constitutional Convention.

Richard L. Mays of Little Rock didn't get "that feeling" that he was part of an unusual event. He said his reception was courteous, good.

"It was as if I could have expected that blacks had sat there last year," he said.

But they had not. Townsend, Wilkins and Mays in the House and Dr. Jerry Jewell of Little Rock in the Senate Monday became the first blacks to take seats in the Arkansas Legislature since 1893.

The event came off without formal comment of acknowledgement beyond the statement by Rep. G.W. "Buddy" Turner Jr. of Pine Bluff in his acceptance of the speakership that members of the House had been elected without "regard to race, color or creed and we welcome them."

All four blacks are Democrats. Jewell is a dentist, Townsend an optometrist, Wilkins a political science professor at the University of Arkansas at Pine Bluff and Mays a lawyer.

Townsend said a "relaxed" relationship existed Monday in the House — "A natural association working and involved with public service," he said.

"I did not personally feel conspicuous," said Mays.

The four black legislators, as a group, are working on a package of legislation to be presented to the General Assembly. Their group has been referred to as a "black caucus," but Townsend said that is a misnomer because included in the group is a freshman white legislator, Robert Johnson, and the group hopes to add more whites.

Johnston, who teaches political science at the University of Arkansas at Little Rock, was elected to the House from the same predominantly black legislative district that sent Mays and Townsend to the legislature.

Wilkins said the group would sponsor "a certain progressive kind of legislation in tune with the times and the needs of the community in the state."

It will not be exclusively black oriented, Mays said.

"We're in the formative stages of trying to develop a program which is not a black program, but a progressive one trying to deal with a lack of progressive measures in the Arkansas Legislature," Mays said.

"The progressivism involves a right for meaningful participation by minorities in government affairs, and also participation by labor unions, teachers, and making sure they have a reasonable relationship with their employer."

The group is working on a bill to establish a state civil rights commission under authorization of a 1972 amendment to the federal Civil Rights Act of 1964.

Townsend said other areas in which the group might offer legislation include public school kindergartens and teacher tenure. But he said he did not want to talk about the details.

Television industry responds to petition

By DONALD SANDERS
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The television industry has responded to a petition to prohibit all commercials on children's programs with a plea that it be allowed to continue with self-regulation.

"This is not so much a plea for gradualism but rather a plea to use the apparatus we have," Stockton Helffrich, director of the National Association of Broadcasters' code authority, told the Federal Communications Commission Monday.

"... In the current climate of change, where all of us want improvements in our society's imperfections which most stand out, there is a prevailing temptation to malign and negate that which has been laboriously built....

"The code—in my opinion, wisely—makes haste slowly. It cannot move faster than the necessary fact-gathering and due process permit. That is a positive, really; where the establishment of new policies pertain, better right than sorry."

Helffrich told the commission he questions a suggestion that a minority of public members be added to the code review board.

People in the News

TOKYO (AP) — Rock musician Mick Jagger has been denied a visa by the Justice Ministry to lead his Rolling Stones in a series of five concerts scheduled to start here Jan. 28.

The ministry said today its denial was based on a past conviction of the British musician on a drug charge. It said it had no objections to a Japanese visit by the other 19 persons in Jagger's group.

The music office said it will decide on Wednesday whether to go ahead with the concerts without Jagger. All 60,000 tickets for the five concerts have been sold.

While the Justice Ministry did not specify the drug conviction against Jagger, he was fined $480 in Britain in 1970 for possession of narcotics.

NEW YORK (AP) — Former Sen. Eugene McCarthy has been appointed Adlai E. Stevenson professor of political science at the New School for Social Research, effective with the start of the spring semester late this month.

In making the announcement Monday, President John R. Everett of the New School said the Minnesotan will teach a graduate seminar on politics and literature and offer lectures in the school's adult division on the "future of liberalism in America."

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — British actor Michael Caine has married former East Indian beauty queen Shakira Baksh in a quick trip to this 24-hour-a-day entertainment and gambling resort.

Caine and Miss Baksh arrived Monday night, took out a license and were wed shortly afterward at a wedding chapel, a spokesman said.

Caine's agent, Dennis Selinger, flew in from London to be best man for the actor, who used his real name for the ceremony, Maurice Joseph Mickelwhite.

Immediately following the ceremony the couple returned to Los Angeles, where Caine is promoting his latest movie, "Sleuth."

It was the second marriage for Caine, 39, and the first for the 25-year-old model who is expecting a child by the actor in July.

MOSCOW (AP) — Alexander Solzhenitsyn has been denied permission by Soviet authorities to divorce his first wife, friends of the Nobel prize-winning Russian novelist report.

Boyleing it down

NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail: Cancer is the disease people dread the most, but heart disease takes twice as big a toll. The No. 1 killer, it claims each year the lives of 358,400 out of every 100,000 Americans. Cancer kills 160,900.

Natural disasters often take a greater toll of bird life than of animal or human life. For example, flights of migrating Lapland longspurs were caught in a vast, blinding, wet snowstorm over Minnesota and Iowa in 1904. Naturalists estimated that more than a million birds died.

Quotable notables: "No man is justified in doing evil on the grounds of expediency." — Theodore Roosevelt.

Quality not size: So much genius and knowledge spread from ancient Athens that many people have the idea it was a gigantic metropolis. Actually, however, even during its golden age under Pericles, Athens had a population of only 300,000 — smaller than that of Omaha. This is no knock on Omaha. It hasn't been around as long as Athens.

Recommendations made by Bureau

Poultry price ceiling relief, stepped-up marketing and production adjustment have been recommended by Arkansas Farm Bureau to ease the poultry industry's current financial crisis.

The farm organization's president, Morris L. Bowman of Newport, made the suggestions Thursday in a letter to U.S. Secretary of Agriculture Earl L. Butz.

Increasing feed costs combined with consistently low poultry prices have created alarm in the poultry industry. Many companies have reported operating losses in recent weeks.

Bowman said that "many grow-out contract payments to growers have been cut in half."

"At the same time, winter production costs are mounting higher," he said. "This combination of circumstances will force many producers out of business. We agree that an emergency exists but we do not feel that asking producers to accept lower returns is in keeping with your stated goals of higher income for farmers."

He said: The Price Commission should consider raising the ceiling price on dressed broilers; USDA and poultry firms should conduct an aggressive domestic and export marketing program, supported by temporary purchases of poultry for military and school use; and poultry production should be reduced in line with consumer demand.

Factors contributing to the high price of feed, like the late harvest and a world shortage of protein material, are temporary and when their effects are reduced the price of feed should decline, he said.

However, Bowman declared, "We do not in any way support efforts to place embargoes on export sales of grain."
